Report, 1895-1900.

In January 1895 the members of the two classes, which had at that time graduated from Barnard College, took the first steps toward forming an Alumnae Association. To a committee, composed of Miss Jessie B. Garretson (Mrs. James W. Finch), Chairman, Mrs. Frank G. Bryson, Miss Alice M. Keys, and Mrs. Sigmund Pollitzer, was entrusted the drawing up of a constitution, which was accepted by the Alumnae, sixteen in number, at a meeting held on February 19, 1895. The meeting was called to order with Miss Garretson in the chair, and the following officers were elected: President, Miss Alice M. Keys, '93; Vice-President, Mrs. Charles S. Baldwin (Miss Agnes Irwin), '94; Recording Secretary, Miss Eliza Jones, '94; Corresponding Secretary, Mrs. Sigmund Pollitzer, '93; Treasurer, Miss Mary S. Pullman, '93. Four members of an Executive Committee were elected as follows: Miss Jessie B. Garretson and Miss Clarita M. Knight (Mrs. Oscar Erlandsen), for a term of six years, and Miss Evangeline R. Bridgart (Mrs. Arthur R. Bauder) and Miss Laura G. Levy (Mrs. Harry F. Jackson), for a term of three years. A Conference Committee was elected as follows: Mrs. Sigmund Pollitzer, Chairman, Mrs. Frank G. Bryson, Miss Mary S. Pullman.

At the time of the formation of the Associate Alumnae, all the energies of the friends of the College were bent in one direction, the raising of money for the site of the new buildings. Accordingly, with the hearty sanction of the Dean and the Board of Trustees, the Association held, in the College building, on April 19, 1895, an open meeting for the purpose of arousing public interest. The President, Miss Keys, presided; and the needs of the College were ably presented by the Dean, Miss Emily James Smith (Mrs. George H. Putnam), President Low, Mr. Joseph H. Choate, Mr. Frederick R. Coudert, Professor William A. Dunning, and Professor Thomas S. Fiske. In point of numbers and of the interest displayed, the meeting was an unqualified success.

During the first year of its existence, the Associate Alumnae, no less than the College as a whole, sustained an irreparable loss in the death of the Reverend Arthur Brooks, D. D., Chairman of the Board of Trustees. Dr. Brooks, for many years before its realization in Barnard College, had cherished the plan of affording to the women of New York educational opportunities equal to those offered to men; and, from its very beginning, he had both advanced the interests of the College, as an institution, with untiring zeal, and given out of the wealth of his own personality individual sympathy to the students themselves.

With an ambition for usefulness in no degree limited by its size, the Associate Alumnae determined, in the winter of '96-'97, to raise a fund for the purpose of making a contribution toward the equipment of the new buildings. A Ways and Means Committee was appointed, consisting of Mrs. Bryson, Chairman, Miss Florence Colgate, Miss Jones, Miss Knight, Miss Louise B. Lockwood, and Miss Pullman. Mrs. A. A. Anderson, having, with the consent of Mrs. S. P. Avery and Mrs. Jacob Wendell, offered to the Association the use of the private gardens at Nos. 3, 5, 7 and 9 East 37th Street, the Committee was enabled to arrange a garden party for the afternoon and evening of May 13th. A very effective scheme of decoration was planned and supervised by Mr. Anderson, the gardens being hung with the College colors, and after dark brilliantly illuminated by colored lanterns. Flowers sent from private conservatories were sold at booths by Barnard undergraduates. A concert was given, both in the afternoon and in the evening, by the Glee and Banjo clubs of Yale University, and additional music was furnished by the Hungarian band. Sincere thanks are due to the patronesses and friends who showed their interest by contributions of flowers and the buying of tickets, and especially to Mr. and Mrs. Anderson whose kindness and assistance were unfailing throughout. The gross receipts amounted to $3500, of which $2825 were put into the Treasurer's hands to be expended upon the new college buildings.

It was felt by all to be most fitting that the gift should take the form of a memorial to Miss Weed, Chairman of the Academic Committee, through whose death in January, 1894, Barnard had suffered an incalculable loss. The performance of the duties of her office, practically that of Dean, brought Miss Weed into daily contact with the Alumnae, at that time students in the College, on whom she exerted an influence deeply helpful and lasting. She combined in an unusual degree great executive ability, tact, and a genuine sympathy with the students, for each one of whom she seemed to feel a personal responsibility. The impress which she made on the College during the first five years of its existence, was of such depth that it has permanently influenced its development.

After a consideration of various needs of the College, the Association decided to equip a reading-room, to be called the Ella Weed Memorial Room. The matter was referred to a committee of five, composed of Miss Mabel Parsons, Chairman, Miss Colgate, Miss Jones, Miss Keys, and Miss Pullman. The contract for the room was awarded to the Tiffany Glass and Decorating Company, whose designs were approved by Mrs. Francis B. Arnold, Chairman of the House Committee of the Board of Trustees. In arranging with the architect of the building, the Committee received practical help from Mr. George E. Plimpton, Chairman of the Building Committee. The Trustees assigned for the purpose the large room directly opposite the stairway, on the second floor of Milbank Hall. Its main feature is the glass mosaic mantelpiece with a marble shelf, surmounted by a memorial tablet to Miss Weed. The decoration throughout is in green, the walls being of the plain tint, and the ceiling covered with an all-over design in distemper colors, composed of the book-marks of mediæval and modern printers. The furniture is Flemish oak, and the walls are lined with bookcases.

Shortly after the decoration was completed, Mrs. Arnold entrusted to the Room Committee the expenditure of the sum of $200, which had been given by the Brooklyn Barnard Club to be spent on the room, preferably for books of reference which should form the nucleus of a collection. After consultation with the Professors of the different departments, eighty volumes were bought. These included the Century Dictionary, and represented the departments of Economics, Sociology, History, English, French, Greek, Latin, and Mathematics.

After the work was finished and accepted by the Trustees, in order to maintain the interest of the Alumnae, it was considered desirable that they should have charge of future alterations and additions to the room. Accordingly application for this privilege was made to the Board of Trustees, the Association stating that it was unable to undertake any financial responsibility. The Trustees, through Mrs. Arnold and the Dean, expressed their pleasure that the Alumnae should continue their interest, and promised that any further equipment should be made either by the Alumnae or with their approval. A permanent Room Committee was therefore appointed, consisting of Miss Anna C. Mellick, Chairman, Miss Lockwood, and Miss Parsons.

During the spring of 1899, it was decided to raise an additional sum for the completion of the reading-room. A committee composed of Miss Keys, Chairman, and Miss Mary B. Dobbs (Mrs. Raymond L. Wadhams), arranged a series of five Lenten readings which were given in March and April. Professor James H. Robinson spoke on Petrarch's Letters, at the residence of Mr. E. C. Keys; the Dean of Barnard, on the Greek Novel, in the Ella Weed Memorial Reading Room at Barnard; Professor Franklin H. Giddings, on The Evolution of the Moral Sense, at the residence of Mr. Bowles Colgate; Professor James H. Hyslop, on Psychical Research, at the residence of Dr. Sigmund Pollitzer; and Professor Nicholas Murray Butler, on University Life in the Middle Ages, at the residence of Mr. Samuel Pullman. The thanks of the Association are due to the lecturers who so kindly gave their valuable time; and to whom their hearers owed five rarely interesting afternoons. The receipts were expended in some necessary repairs and the further furnishing of the room.

In December, 1896, by vote of the Executive Committee, the President appointed a Statistics Committee, composed of Mrs. George H. Parker (Miss Louise M. Stabler), Chairman, Miss Carrie Hammerslough, Miss Jones, and Miss Knight. This was later made a permanent committee of the Association. Since its formation, the Statistics Committee has sent out to the Alumnae two sets of blanks, the results of the more recent of which are embodied in this report.

At the end of its first year, the Association, desiring to gain for itself a permanent means of influencing the policy of the College, by formal representation on the Board of Trustees, instructed the Conference Committee to approach the Board in this important matter ; and at the annual business meeting in October, 1897, the Committee reported the success of its application, announcing that the Alumna Trustee should begin to serve at the meeting in May, 1898. The method of election being left to the Association, with the condition that the final vote should be counted by the Board of Trustees, a Nominating Committee was elected by the Executive Committee, and the following candidates were selected : Mrs. George H. Parker, '93, Miss Florence Colgate, '95, and Miss Jean W. Tatlock, '95. The Executive Committee agreed upon the advisability of a secret ballot, and the election was placed in the hands of a committee composed of the Corresponding Secretary and Miss Lockwood. Miss Colgate was elected. It was then found that an unexpected delay in the revision of the Charter of the College by the State Board of Regents, without which the Board of Trustees was not able to admit an Alumna Trustee, would prevent Miss Colgate from entering upon her office at the time previously appointed. In the spring of 1899, however, notification was received that the change in the Charter had passed the Board of Regents, but that, on account of a technicality, it would be necessary to repeat the election. A second Nominating Committee presented the names of the same candidates, the Corresponding Secretary and Mrs. Finch conducting the balloting. Miss Colgate was again elected, and in May, 1899, took her seat on the Board. The President's report for 1897 and 1898 emphasizes the importance of the privilege conferred, in these words : " The Associate Alumnae has existed for less than four years, and has obtained from the Trustees a concession which, in the case of many of the older colleges, has been very slow in coming, or has been with difficulty wrested from a reluctant governing body, or has not been granted at all, namely—Alumnae representation on the Board of Trustees."

The subject of forming a Students' Aid Committee, as a permanent object for the interest and work of its members, was laid before the Association in October, 1898 ; and Miss Keys, Miss Mary R. Roper, and Miss Tatlock were appointed to investigate and report. This Committee presented to the Association a plan of work, which was accepted at a meeting held in December, 1898. The aims of the Students' Aid Committee, as determined by the Association, were, the assistance of undergraduates in Barnard College, the obtaining of positions for its graduates, and the establishment of a fellowship fund, which last object should be subordinate to the first and second. In January, 1899, the Students' Aid Committee was elected by the Executive Committee as follows: Miss Tatlock, Chairman, Miss Clara de L. Berg, Miss Keys, Miss Alice J. G. Perkins, and Miss Adaline C. Wheelock. Owing to lack of funds, the efforts of the Committee were at first limited to the obtaining of positions for Barnard graduates. Notices were sent to the Alumnae and undergraduates, asking those who desired positions of any kind to notify the Committee. The private schools of the country were also informed of its existence and purpose, with the request that applications for Barnard graduates, as teachers, should be made to the Chairman. Many requests for teachers, chiefly from out-of-town schools, have been received; but, since the number of applications from graduates has been small, and much restricted by conditions, the Committee has been able to fill but few positions. An attempt has also been made to form a loan library of text books for the use of undergraduates, under the management of Miss A. E. H. Meyer, but, as there is constant change in the editions recommended, and as comparatively few of the Alumnae have responded to the request for books, this branch of the work is still undeveloped. When, in the spring of 1900, a fund of $1450 was put at the disposal of the Committee, it became possible to give assistance to undergraduates. The policy of the Committee is to make loans only to students who have proved by their records a decided ability and unmistakable earnestness in their work; and, thus far, four loans have been made.

At the time of the organization of the Students' Aid Committee, the Association voted that an effort should be made to put it on a permanent financial basis; and a Ways and Means Committee was named, which, in its final composition, was as follows: Miss Lockwood, Chairman, Miss Agnes Baldwin, Miss Colgate, Miss Virginia Gildersleeve, Miss Parsons, and Miss Bertha S. Van Riper. After various disappointments this Committee began its actual work in the winter of 1900, when Mrs. Anson Phelps Stokes generously gave the use of her house for a musicale. Madame Schumann-Heinck, Monsieur Pol Plan-con, and Miss Susan Strong, of the Metropolitan Opera Company, at the request of Miss Elsie Clews (Mrs. Herbert Parsons), and with Mr. Grau's permission, consented to sing. The names of Mr. Francis Rogers and Miss Henrietta Cady, the pianist, were added to the program, which was arranged by Mr. Victor Harris. Mr. Isidore Luckstone was at the piano. The musicale took place on the afternoon of March 8th, before an enthusiastic audience. The sum of $1530 was received, of which $1450 was handed to the Treasurer for the use of the Students' Aid Committee. In addition to those who so kindly gave their services, the thanks of the Association are due to Mrs. Stokes for her interest and helpfulness, to Mr. George G. Haven, Mrs. Raymond, and Mrs. Wellman, whose assistance contributed in large measure to the success of the entertainment.

In December, 1896, a committee was appointed for the purpose of obtaining an Alumnae room at Barnard, which should serve as a place of meeting, and in which the records and other papers might be kept. No room was available until the spring of 1900, when, by the courtesy of President Low, room No. 110, Milbank Hall, was granted to the Association for an indefinite period. A committee composed of Miss Keys, Chairman, Miss Louise B. Dunn, and Miss Mellick have in charge the furnishing of the room, which has not as yet been completed.

Since its formation, it has been the custom of the Associate Alumnae to hold, in addition to its annual business meeting in October, a social reunion during the Christmas holidays. An informal luncheon in the old first floor back room at 343 Madison Avenue, brought the Alumnae together in this way for the first time in January, 1896. In the following December, the Association was entertained by Miss Clews; since when a luncheon has been held every year in the theatre in Brinkeroff Hall. These meetings afford the best opportunity during the year for the members of the rapidly growing Association to come together, to keep in touch with the old classes, and to become acquainted with the new. Since 1898 a second social meeting has been held in June, primarily to extend a welcome to the graduates of the year. In 1898 and 1899 a luncheon was given, followed by an address of welcome to the guests of the occasion, and speeches on the chief interests of the Association at the time. In June, 1900, a reception to the graduating class was held in the new Alumnae room. Mr. Low was the guest of honor on this occasion, the Alumnae's first opportunity to greet him as President of Barnard College. Another informal gathering of the year was a tea, in November, for the undergraduates of the College.

In addition to those already mentioned as serving on committees, the following members have ably worked in its behalf: Miss Adelaide C. Hoffman, Miss Eleanor Osborne, Miss Louise Place, Miss Eva S. Potter, Miss Edith R. Sackett, Miss Alice L. Seligsberg, Miss Edith P. Striker, Miss Anne J. Sutphen, Miss Ettie Stettheimer, Miss Ada Watterson, and Miss Ida E. Wells.

In reviewing the short history of the Association, it is clear that much has been accomplished; the Alumnae are represented on the Board of Trustees; about $4500 has been raised for objects connected with the College; and its graduates have, by work in the Association, been kept in touch with each other, and sensitive to the interests of Barnard. The Associate Alumnae has an opportunity, unequalled among similar Associations, a large proportion of its members living in New York and its vicinity, so that it is possible for them to have a share in the development of the College; and, should its activity keep pace with its increasing numbers, it will have before it a future of ever-widening influence.
